

The Syrian set will have in total four locations: Damascus, Aleppo's mountains, Latakia and Palmyra all represent a meaningful part of the protagonist's journey. The movie shooting started in the first week of July and shot its first scene in Damascus airport. Filming then moved on the 16th to Beit Al Nur where the Grand Opening took place; it was honored by the movie's director Malaponti and the full cast. On the 17th the movie staff organized a press-conference attended by famous Italian journalists as well as reporters from Lebanese and Syrian TV. What's On Staff was present at both prestigious events. The Italian cast will stay in Syria till about the 7th of August after which they will go back to Italy for the movie assemblage. Clamorously "7 Kilometers from Jerusalem" will participate at the Berlin Movie Festival as one of the most important Italian productions, hoping to be out in the cinema halls by 2006.
